Tornado Alert Lifted In County At Midnight

High Winds Hit In Lehigh

A "TORNADO alert" kept Monroe County twister and turning last night—but at midnight the twister had apparently blown itself out.

Midnight was the deadline for the alert issued by Allentown Weather Bureau. The Bureau put out its tornado warning after high winds struck the Lehigh-Tamaqua area at 8:15 p.m.

High winds and rain were felt in Monroe County at 2:30 a.m.

According to William Barch, supervisory meteorologist at the Allentown bureau, his office issued a blanket warning of a possible tornado at 8:35 p.m., shortly after reports of the Lehigh-Tamaqua area storm came in.

The alert covered all of Monroe, Carbon and part of Pike counties. A similar warning was issued for Wayne County by the Scranton weather station.

Earl Sibert at the Scranton bureau said that "the only report we've had of a possible tornado was the one from Lehigh at 8:15." Sibert said his office had been unable to trace the storm further.

In Monroe County Red Cross personnel were alerted of the potential storm by the Allentown bureau. So was Radio Station WVVO which was, at that time, off the air for the night. Civil Defense was alerted by the Red Cross.

At 9 p.m. the Allentown bureau told The Daily Record that two reports of wind damage had been made. Both were in Lehigh-Tamaqua region. The incidents occurred about a half-hour apart.

Lehigh State police said that the winds hit first at Normal Square, a section roughly six miles out of the borough. The wind "knocked down trees and wires" and "headed north toward Summit Hill" police said.

State troopers said they had called Summit Hill, Nesquehoning and Lansford and "there was nothing doing at any of those places."

Allentown bureau agreed that the "last report" had come from the Lehigh region. Barch said, however, that it was possible the high winds had blown out into relatively uninhabited areas.

At the same time, Barch said, the weather bureau had to issue an alert because past experience generally showed that "when there is one tornado there may likely be two."

Barch said that most tornadoes occur before midnight. From midnight on as temperatures drop and pressure areas are relieved, high winds dissipate in the atmosphere.

At Scranton, Sibert said that the official forecast for the remainder of the night called for some winds, cloudiness and high humidity. Scattered thunderstorms by late afternoon.

Intermittent power failures in the N. Ninth St.-Arlington Heights region added further confusion to the scene.

Typical of the dozens of calls received by The Record from residents of that area was one that came from a woman at 10:55.

"We have no lights and no radios up in this area (Arlington Heights). Could you tell us what's wrong. We thought maybe we were having another hurricane."

Assured that the power company felt there was no connection between the tornado alert and failure of lights, the woman said: "Well, we've got a couple of kerosene lamps left over from last time. We dragged them out so I guess we're all set."

Oriental Flu Case Reported

SCRANTON, June 28 (U)—At least one suspected case of oriental influenza here has been reported to state authorities.

Dr. Frank Larkin, county medical director, said today that an Old Forge soldier, who recently returned from Japan, was the first suspected case in the region.

Rains Pelt Section Of State

PITTSBURGH, June 28 (U)—A widespread storm system spawned by dying Hurricane Audrey tonight brought heavy rains and gusty winds to some western Pennsylvania areas, causing scattered damage.

The band of precipitation was moving steadily toward the other end of the state where some sections remained gripped in a drought.

A twister-like storm was reported in Carbon County. It was said to have caused considerable damage but there were no reports of injuries.

High winds accompanied downpours in the Pittsburgh area and in Washington County, knocking down trees and power lines. Emergency crews had numerous calls.

Rain was general throughout the western region but the amounts varied greatly.

Erie reported 14 inches of rain caused street and cellar flooding. Bradford had 1½ inches in a two-hour period ending at 6:15 p.m. Minor street flooding resulted.

Meadville, Oil City and Titusville also reported moderate to heavy rain.

Except for Clarion and Venango counties where sporadic gusts were reported, the northwestern area experienced little in the way of damaging winds.

PINNED INSIDE—Roscoe H. Harper, 40, of RD 1, Lewistown, suffered only minor injuries when he was pinned inside the cab of his tractor-trailer which went out of control and overturned on a curve at the foot of Foxtown Hill in Stroudsburg yesterday. Driver Escapes Serious Injury As Truck Upsets After Running Out Of Control

A 40-YEAR-OLD Mifflin County truck driver escaped serious injury yesterday when his tractor-trailer went out of control on Foxtown Hill and overturned on Morningside Ave.

The driver, Roscoe H. Harper, of RD 1, Lewistown, was taken to General Hospital for treatment for lacerations and abrasions of the back and legs after being pinned inside the cab. He later was discharged. Stroudsburg Borough Police said Harper was traveling south on Route 611 at 12:25 p.m. when he lost control of the truck on a curve in front of 26-28 Morningside Ave.

Witnesses said the vehicle, owned by the Crown Motor Freight Co., of Paterson, N.J., blew its right front tire.

Hitting the curbing, the truck ripped up the lawns on Morningside Ave. properties owned by Alfred M. Schoch and Livingston Gunn, police said.

Several thousands dollars damage was caused to the tractor-trailer, which was carrying a load of advertising display racks, police reported.

Stroudsburg fire-fighters rushed to the scene, fearful that gasoline would be ignited.

Police said the investigation is being continued.

Senate Committee Votes To Restrict Court Sweep

WASHINGTON, June 28 (U)—A Senate Judiciary subcommittee voted swiftly and unanimously today to restrict the sweep of a Supreme Court decision opening FBI files to the defense in some criminal cases.

Arthur Miller Fails To Win Acquittal

WASHINGTON, June 28 (U)—Playwright Arthur Miller failed today to knock out his contempt of Congress conviction on the basis of the Supreme Court's Watkins decision.

U. S. Dist. Judge Charles F. McLaughlin ruled the Watkins decision did not cover one of the two contempt counts upon which he adjudged Miller guilty May 31.

Judge McLaughlin, however, said the Watkins ruling applied to the other count and he acquitted Miller on it.

Empty Victory

But as a practical matter, this was an empty victory for the playwright.

For sentencing purposes, judges have invariably treated a series of refusals to answer questions before congressional committees as one offense.

Therefore Miller still faces a sentence which, in the discretion of the judge, could range up to a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

The impact of the Watkins decision was felt in another court-room today in the case of Dr. Otto Nathan of New York, executor of the estate of the late Albert Einstein.

Good Morning!

A good aim in life isn't enough; you have to pull the trigger, too.

The subcommittee approved a bill, after a one-hour hearing, to permit the inspection of only that FBI information which a judge holds to be pertinent to a trial.

Atty. Gen. Brownell asked for the fast action, saying "a grave emergency in law enforcement" had come about as a result of the June 3 decision in the Jencks case.

The legislation is needed, he told the senators, to avoid "serious miscarriage of justice in federal criminal cases."

Concern In the case causing concern, the Supreme Court threw out the conviction of Clinton E. Jencks, a labor leader who had been found guilty of filing a false non-Communist affidavit.

A five-man majority of the justices said he should have been allowed direct access to reports government witnesses made about him to the FBI.

The court said that if the government was unwilling to disclose the files, it should drop the case.

The bill approved by the subcommittee would let a trial judge examine any reports demanded by a defendant, decide whether any portions of the reports had a bearing on the case being tried, and delete everything that was not pertinent.

O'Mahoney said he hoped to bring it to the Senate floor next week.

Crash Proves Fatal

MAYVILLE, N. Y., June 28 (U)—Donald Rick, 47, of Mayville was killed today when the automobile in which he was riding crashed off a highway near this Chautauque County village.

Atomic Blast Fails To Materialize

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev., June 28 (U)—A team of scientists pulled the teeth of an atomic weapon today after the device misfired because of power failure.

Three men climbed the 500-foot tower where the weapon lay and quickly made it harmless.

The scientists said there was "only about one chance in a million" that the test device would explode after a power failure.

Twice previously atomic weapons had been disarmed here after misfires.

Braced for the expected blinding flare of light and thunderous sound, 1,900 entrenched Marines and 150 more distant observers found themselves engulfed in shocking silence.

Commission

Atomic Energy Commission officials went into a quick huddle to work out the strategy of disarming.

Then they sent a team to the tower.

Dr. Robert Burton of the AEC's Sandia, N. M., atomic laboratory accomplished the actual disarming. He did so by disconnecting two power cables at the point they entered the weapon. He was assisted by Forrest Fairbrother and Bern Rubin of the University of California's nuclear laboratory.

Vehicles were sent into bringing the troops out. The Marines had planned to maneuver in the blast area immediately after the detonation.

Seventeen technicians in a reinforced concrete bunker 2,000 yards from the tower remained there for safety reasons for several hours.

After each previous misfire, the weapon was detonated a few days later.

Racial Issue Brought Into Hoffa Case

WASHINGTON, June 28 (U)—A lawyer trying to get James R. Hoffa free on a bribery-conspiracy charge today raised racial issues before the predominantly Negro jury—and the attempt apparently boomeranged.

The government's star witness, whom the defense had tried to portray as anti-Negro, turned the tables and pictured himself as a benefactor of Negroes.

Witness

Eight members of the jury trying Hoffa, Midwestern chief of the Teamsters Union on charges of bribery and conspiracy, are Negroes. Racial issues are not involved in the charge.

The witness was John C. Cheasty, Brooklyn lawyer who has sworn that Hoffa hired him in a plot to steal secrets of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee. Cheasty divulged the alleged plot to the committee and worked with the FBI to snare Hoffa.

Abrupt End Of Court Martial Of Nickerson May Occur Sometime Today

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., June 28 (U)—An abrupt end to the half-secret court-martial of Army Col. John C. Nickerson Jr., was in sight tonight.

Despite the fact that the defense had planned to call 14 witnesses, it rested its case at 3:30 p. m. today after the 10-man court-martial board had heard only four.

A few minutes later the prosecutor, Lt. Col. William G. Barry, announced that the government also rested, but would call Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, commanding general of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency to the stand tomorrow.

After hearing Medaris the court-martial board presumably will retire to fix Nickerson's punishment.

State Closes Case Against Nine Men

HARRISBURG, June 28 (U)—The Commonwealth closed its case today against nine men accused of joining in an alleged conspiracy to fleece the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission of 19½ million dollars.

Minutes after the prosecution rested its case, 13 defense attorneys flooded the court with motions to have certain testimony given during the last 20 days stricken from the record as immaterial.

Judge Homer L. Kreidler said he would rule on the motions tomorrow at a conference with defense and prosecution attorneys.

The end of the Commonwealth's case came after Dist. Atty. Huette F. Dowling and Deputy Atty. Gen. Vincent Panati conferred for 20 minutes on whether to introduce further testimony given six months ago to a special Dauphin County grand jury which recommended the indictments.

Motions Earl V. Compton, a defense attorney, said he and his colleagues will place motions before the judge tomorrow to have the charges dismissed "because the Commonwealth failed to build up a case against our clients."

The prosecution claimed the alleged conspiracy centered around a mine void filling contract given Manu-Mine Research and Development Co., Reading.

The company collected more than six million dollars in what the prosecution contends was "made work" along a six-mile section of the Northeastern Extension of the toll road.

Compton promised his client would take the stand in his own defense. He represents Charles W. Stickler Jr., nephew of a former commission chairman, and president of Manu-Mine.

Thomas J. Evans, Stickler's uncle and former turnpike chairman, and James F. Torrance, suspended commissioner, are among the defendants.

The prosecution's last witness testified that the commission was billed for work that was never done by Manu-Mine.

George D. Oswald, a driller for Rogers Brothers Construction Co., Scranton, told the court that a great percentage of holes "allegedly" drilled by Manu-Mine were not of the required depth or failed to reach mine voids.

Manu-Mine billed the commission for drilling more than 600,000 feet of holes through which Rogers was to force fill into the mine voids beneath the extension right-of-way.

"About 60 per cent of the holes we flushed wouldn't take any material at all and the other 40 per cent of the holes wouldn't take near the amount called for," Oswald testified.

He said thousands of tons of silt and sand flushed into one area had drained out of the mine caverns and spilled into the Susquehanna River.

Shapiro Plans Dismissals

PHILADELPHIA, June 28 (U)—Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro said today he planned widespread dismissals of employees in Pennsylvania's 18 state mental institutions. The statement drew immediate criticism from legislators of both parties.

Shapiro said he planned "dismissals in every institution in the state and in the Welfare department" because of what he said was the Legislature's "failure to provide the funds requested."

Many refugees were collected at the courthouse before being brought into Lake Charles.

Inland, it loosed rain torrents along a belt of contact with chilly air in the Midwest, dropping nearly 10 inches in Illinois and Indiana where flash flooding drove hundreds from their homes and blocked highways.

Two women were drowned when a bus was swept into a creek at Zionville, Ind. A motorist was drowned when his automobile was washed into a gully near Christian, Ill. At least six other deaths were attributed to rains and flooding in Illinois.

Tornado funnels spun from clouds over Alabama. Eleven persons were injured by two twisters which damaged farm communities between Montgomery and Mobile. A small twister was reported to the Weather Bureau near Palm Beach, Fla., but it only tore shingles from a house.

The disturbance churned winds of 68 m.p.h. in a thunderstorm Friday afternoon near Sandusky, Ohio. Winds early in the day were measured at 60 m.p.h. at Mobile.

Tidal Waves Sweep Over Louisiana Coast

LAKE CHARLES, La., June 28 (U) Mammoth tidal waves — receding slowly at nightfall-swamped the Louisiana coast today in the wake of Hurricane Audrey, leaving at least 167 dead and hundreds injured.

Maj. Gen. Raymond Hufft, state civil defense commander, said there were 150 known dead in the Cameron area alone and "it may be a week to 10 days" before the final count is finished. Seventeen other victims were counted elsewhere.

An armada of helicopters and fleets of boats roamed through the flooded Cameron area south of here in the southwest corner of the state. A 20-mile strip along the coast is below sea level.

Prediction

Cameron Parish-county Sheriff O. B. Carter predicted the death toll would be at least 200.

Ken Dixon, managing editor of the Lake Charles American Press, said two-thirds of the victims' bodies would be swept into the Gulf of Mexico by the receding tides.

First hint of the scope of the disaster came early this morning when Deputy Sheriff D. P. Vincent, rescued by boat from Cameron, said he felt "3,000 or 4,000 drowned" there.

Red Cross sources said about 1,000 persons stayed in the parish when Audrey struck yesterday.

Bill Mertena, an American Press reporter, toured the Cameron area by plane and helicopter.

He said Cameron was about 90 per cent destroyed, with "at least 50 per cent of the buildings demolished completely and many others so badly damaged they were a total loss."

Mertena covered almost 80 miles of coastline in his flights and reported only one home out of every 25 still standing. "Only projecting foundations and chimneys told where there had been houses," he said. "The resort community of Holly Beach no longer exists. It was completely wiped off the map."

Bodies of dead cattle, horses and wild animals littered stretches of the marshlands.

Mertena said he counted more than 75 cars scattered along roads where people had made vain efforts to flee. The fate of the occupants was unknown.

Gen. Hufft, after his tour of the area, said bodies of the dead animals constituted a major health problem.

Hundreds were evacuated by boat today. Sheriff Carter released his estimate of 200 deaths after evacuations began.

Rescued Four hundred persons were rescued on one boat alone, the majority picked off rafts, trees, remnants of rooftops. Some were swimming or just floating when spotted by rescuers.

John Washington, a 32-year-old Cameron man, said, "I was living in a rooming house and it just tore down."

Mrs. Wade C. Haley, 26-year-old Cameron mother, said she and her husband and four children were in their trailer home when the hurricane hit.

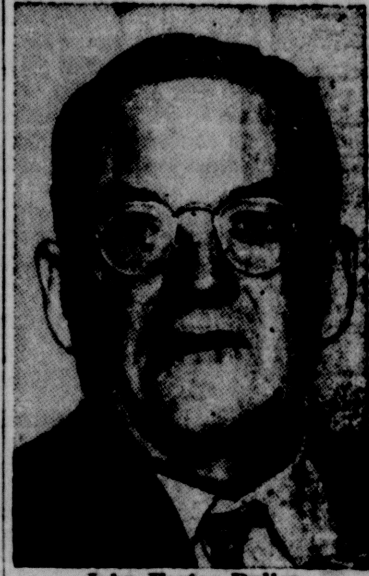

"I don't know where the trailer is now. It was already floating before we got out of it. A boat picked us up at a two-story house later and took us to the courthouse."

John Foster Dulles

Dulles Blasts Admission Of Red China

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28 (U)—Granting membership to Communist China would lead to the "destruction" of the United Nations, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles declared today.

"Communist Russia, with veto power, already seriously limits the ability of the United Nations to serve its intended purposes," Dulles said. "Were Communist China also to become a permanent, veto-wielding member of the Security Council, that would, I fear, implant in the United Nations the seeds of its own destruction."

The secretary made this strong statement of opposition at the international convention of the Lions Club in the very city where the United Nations was born. Delegates broke into applause seven times during the 30-minute speech, which was televised nationally. A standing ovation sent him smiling from the platform.

Recognition

Recognition of the Soviet Union by the United States in 1933 set no precedent necessitating recognition of Communist China now, Dulles said.

"Soviet Russia, in 1933, had a decade of peaceful nonaggressive relations with neighboring countries, while Communist China's past record is one of armed aggression," he declared.

"The Soviet regime seemed to want peace for the future. In the case of Communist China, the situation is quite the reverse."

He said the Red Chinese ambassador to Geneva, in talks concerning the Far East situation, "finally stated frankly that his regime contemplated using armed force to take Taiwan, Formosa unless they could get it in some other way."

"The Soviet Union in 1933 was not flagrantly violating its international engagements," Dulles said. "The Chinese Communist regime is violating the 1953 Korean armistice and the 1954 Indochina armistice."

Poznan Marks Riot Anniversary

POZNAN, Poland, June 28 (U)—Poznan commemorated today the first anniversary of its historic anti-Communist uprising. Residents wept at the graves of the dead and then paraded in an immense demonstration of allegiance to the Roman Catholic Church.

A mile-long procession of thousands paraded through streets where a year ago they braved secret police bullets in demonstrations for "bread and freedom."

Circuit-Riding Preacher Returns

By JOSEPH L. BENHAM
The Associated Press
A skinny, saddle-worn, dusty old man, the circuit-riding preacher of years ago, it was a time when church might be on Tuesday morning, Wednesday afternoon or Thursday night. It all depended on when the preacher could reach your church.
Paved roads and fast automobiles threatened to make him just another figure in history, but today he's making a comeback.
He doesn't look much like his counterpart of years past, however. He carries Bibles and hymn-books in a sleek leather case instead of a saddle-bag. He travels by late model auto or hill-jumping helicopter, rather than a saddle-horse or buckboard. And he's replaced his black Stetson, frock coat and high boots with the uniform of a U. S. Army chaplain.
There's been a big change in his audience, too. Today's services are for the soldiers of the mountain-top anti-aircraft defenses that guard our major cities and industrial areas. These are the men who sweep the skies with radar 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, ready to send Nike guided missiles or thousands of rounds of artillery shells against an attacking nation's aircraft. For tactical reasons, the sites are usually placed in remote areas deep in the desert or high in the hills.
When Sunday morning comes, about one-third of the 100 men at a typical battery are on duty. Another third have been just relieved from an all-night shift. Between the two groups, a majority of the battery is either unable or at least reluctant to go to the nearest civilian church for services. In bad weather, it's often impossible.
This is the time the traveling chaplain comes in. Packing portable pump organ, aluminum altar and a collection of Bibles, hymnals and tracts, the chaplain visits the sites during the week to conduct services.

Adventists Open Annual Conference

WESCOVILLE — Seven-state regional youth director, Arthur J. Patzer, declared that "Personal Honor" was the most effective watchword in teenage entertainment among Christian youth.
Patzer addressed the night session yesterday of the 47th annual eastern state-wide conference of Seventh-day Adventists now in a 10-day conference on the church's grounds at Westcoville. Scoring the tremendous quantity and the deplorable quality of entertainment media which is disrupting the patterns of good character building in youth today, the regional youth director suggested the key question, "Is it Christian?" to be applied to TV programs, literature and all other entertainment offerings.
Dangers
The local area Adventists attending the conference heard Patzer cite the dangers of laxness in decisions as to viewing of many television programs. "Too many of these programs glorify or make it seem acceptable common such practices as falsifying, promiscuity, and many other facets of sin. This effects the perspectives of even adults let alone young people who are rounding out their character patterns for life," he declared.
Youth director Patzer commended the "Legion of Honor" groups which are a part of the church's Youth Societies pledged to the highest of standards in selection of entertainment media and recreational opportunities. "These Honor groups are within the organization of the nearly 450 societies with a membership of nearly 7,000 youth in the seven-state regional area which includes Pennsylvania. This is one of our positive answers to some of the many youth problems of today," he declared.
The local delegation will today hear the International Radio Broadcasting team, the Voice of Prophecy, headed by J. O. Iverson. The team is now heard on over 500 radio stations in the United States and Canada and many overseas countries.

"THEY WOODS AND TEMPLED HILLS..."

Samuel Francis Smith was a student at Andover Theological Seminary when he wrote "My country, 'tis of thee." That was in 1832, two years before he was ordained a minister.

"America" never became our national anthem—probably because it is sung to the tune of the British anthem, "God Save the King." But it has remained one of our greatest hymns, its words familiar to almost every American. In a simple, moving way it seems to express both the spirit of our nation and the faith of our churches. And in its stirring climax, addressed to the Author of Liberty, these become one.

Samuel Francis Smith, with other great Americans, taught us to seek our national welfare in constant religious devotion. He saw no denial of America's freedom—but rather its fulfillment—in the humble acknowledgment:

GREAT GOD, OUR KING!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Merit Pay Study Urged

Thousands of words have been written and spoken about the controversial subject of merit pay for teachers. It is one of the most widely discussed topics in education today.

The Daily Record asked a leading expert of the plan for permission to publish a series of three articles he had prepared on the subject. He graciously acceded to the request and the series appeared on this page earlier this week. The articles were written by Dr. Edmund H. Thorne, superintendent of schools in West Hartford, Conn. They explained the program in detail, noted its shortcomings as well as its advantages and observed that it had been accepted by a large majority of West Hartford's teachers.

In the concluding article, Dr. Thorne warned over-enthusiastic boards against adopting merit pay plans not suited for their localities. In other words, what works well in West Hartford might fail in another community. We believe the principle of extra pay for outstanding teachers is sound. The criteria might well differ in adjoining school districts, but careful thought and a willingness to work out the right program can eventually result in adoption of a merit plan suitable to each district.

The West Hartford plan places much reliance on the opinions of the teachers themselves. It allows teachers to eliminate themselves from being evaluated, if they choose. It also has other features that should appeal to everyone.

We think that school districts throughout this area conduct a serious study of the merit pay plan. We think such a program would go far in raising the standards of our school systems, which already are on a high plane. It would also encourage the better teachers to remain with the district by relating their salary level to their level of performance.

As a starter, the West Hartford plan could be used as the basis for working out the merit salary program best suited for each district.

No Action May Mean Progress

There are many straight-thinking persons throughout the land who believe there are far too many statutes on the law books—nationally, in the states and in the local communities.

We are glad to report that something is being done about that situation. The recent Pennsylvania Legislature has been both praised and damned for what it did and what it did not do.

Those who believe that no action at all is often desirable should toss their hats over the fact that the Legislature killed or failed to take action on more than 1,000 bills.

So we have about 1,000 fewer laws, rules, regulations and commands with which to clutter up our lives and liberties. Thanks, lawmakers.

Sometimes we make progress by standing still or even going backward.

George Sokolsky Says...

Theory Of The "Fair Trial"

It is no reflection on Japan that an American soldier, performing services while in the American soldier is to be tried in a court-martial. The present era it was a universal right among soldiers to be tried by a court-martial of their own country.

There was a time when all foreigners in Japan and China were tried in their own courts situated in those countries. Extra-territoriality was abolished in Japan much earlier than in China, but neither country chose to adopt Anglo-Saxon law, finding various modifications of the Code Napoleon more suitable to their purposes. What law prevails now in Red China, I do not know.

Whatever it is, the Chinese will find ways of evading it as they are more bound by local custom than by codes adapted from foreign countries and forcibly applied to them.

The Japanese are an obedient people, startlingly law-abiding but with high tempers particularly when they do not quite understand what is being done. Japanese are among the proudest people on Earth, taking umbrage readily. In personal relations, they are faithful to their friends; they never forget a foe. The Chinese are more flexible, readily forgetting both a friend and a foe, and doing it with a smile.

It is possible that William S. Girard could get a fair trial in Japan; in fact, he might get off scot free just to prove that Japan tempers justice with mercy; whereas an army court-martial might throw the book at him just to prove that no private may kick up a row when the big shots want to use him as a political pawn in an international enterprise.

Unfortunately for Girard, he is not the sole issue either to the United States or Japan. The fundamental question for Americans is whether an American soldier is the responsibility of the American government during his tenure in the service.

The other side of the coin is that the United States is making all sorts of agreements whereby American troops are really commodities in Military Aid. It was testified that there are many administrative agreements of all sorts. Thus, some Americans are working under the direction of NATO and when they are situated in NATO countries, they are under the supervision of those countries. Actually, at this moment, they are under the command of a German, General Hans Speidel.

In Japan, there is no status of forces treaty and therefore there are a series of documents, products of numerous negotiations, which it is to be hoped, the Supreme Court will evaluate judicially and not politically, although many recent decisions of this court have been political.

The Supreme Court decision will determine whether when an American joins the armed forces either by draft or enlistment, he loses his constitutional rights for the duration of his service. This decision will also apply to reserves and therefore the question arises for what part of a man's life does he lose his constitutional rights.

The generals and admirals who sit on the Joint Chiefs of Staff ought to be on their knees praying that the Supreme Court decides against them because otherwise they will discover, although too late, that enlistments fall off, reserves disappear as quickly as possible.

Two disc jockeys are trying for a non-stop broadcasting mark of 200 hours. Are you listening?—we ain't!

The present continuous air chatter record is nearly seven full days—a feat that leaves us speechless.

Seems the first get-together between President Eisenhower and Japan's Premier Kishi ended in a complete stalemate. They played 18 holes of golf and their scores were exactly alike!

The trouble with taking a late summer vacation is that no one notices the glorious coat of tan one has accumulated.

Maybe the reason all those big name comedians faded from TV is that they ceased to be the big laugh boys.

North America now has a total population of 233 million, according to Factographs. And they all seem to want to drive down the same street we do on a Sunday.

500 YEARS OF SCIENTIFIC PROGRESS

Solving Salary Problems

By Anne Heywood

Money, whether in the form of salary, drawing account or commissions, plays a part in almost all our jobs, yet we all have a great deal of trouble dealing with it.

The two questions which come up in my mail most frequently are: "What do you say when the employer asks you, in the job interview, how much money you want?" and "How do you ask for a raise?"

Salary Problems

Here are a few pointers on these salary problems:

First, remember that it really is up to the employer to name the starting salary. If he throws the ball to you, he either wants to trick you into naming a figure lower than he has in mind, or he really doesn't know what the job is worth, or he's open-minded about it and wants to see what you think you're worth. So don't worry if the question does throw you a bit and you do hem and haw—it's natural.

Ask For Enough

If you know what you want, say it—but be sure it's large enough! Nothing is worse than finding you could have gotten ten dollars a week more.

If you don't know, simply say that you have no idea, not having done the job, what its worth and ask what amount he had in mind. Usually he'll name a figure.

Think It Over

If you honestly don't know and he honestly won't name one, say you'll have to think it over and call him back. This gives you a chance to check with friends, relatives and employment agency, people on salaries for similar jobs. It is much better than quickly naming a too-low figure and being stuck with it. Times are relatively good, remember, and there are other jobs!

On asking for a raise, the first point is to be really sure that you deserve one. When a raise isn't forthcoming, it is often because you honestly haven't rated one. You may need more money, but that is not the same thing as deserving it. So before you ask for a raise, brush up your work performance until it's perfect.

Just Ask

If it is, then right away, without stewing and building up resentment, ask the boss if you can talk with him when he has a free minute. When you do, don't beg or plead, storm or stew. Just say that you wonder if there's any reason, any flaw in your work performance, which is preventing you from getting the raise you need.

If there is, he'll tell you. If there isn't, he'll probably give you the raise. Maybe he hasn't got the money, maybe he just forgot, maybe he believes in giving the squeaking wheel the grease.

By dealing calmly with salary problems, you can handle them smoothly.

The Once Over

by H. I. Phillips

This is the Fresh Air Fund season and this corner revises its campaign for a fund to send PAR-ENTS to the country for a vacation.

Mom and pop are more harassed and nstrung just now than ever. They are worn to a frazzle by the harrowing problems of child-raising.

Once it was the kids who needed relief from the stern routines of the old folks, but today it is the parents who are in desperate need of a respite from routines of the moppets.

We never see a bunch of kids at the depot about to board trains to a fresh air camp without feeling that it would be nice to see mom and pop in rompers and playsuits being given a sendoff by the small fry.

So let's have a Parents' Fresh Air Fund, the proceeds to be used to transport them away from it all and off to some green vacation camp where they won't see anybody under 21 years of age for at least two weeks. Think of the comfort of being away off in Camp Carefree far from any cries of "Mommie, he hit me," "Poppie, I want a switch-blade knife for my birthday," "Why can't I play ball in the parlor?" "Can I go deep-sea diving with the Jones boy?" etc., etc! Ah, the joy of not having to make little Egbert eat his cereal, wash behind his ears and stop heaving rocks through the police station window!

This is the time to rally and send mom and pop to the lakes, beaches and mountains with the simple words, "Now just go away and have a good time."

Believe it or not, a young lady has been named Miss Steel Pier for 1957. . . . Now for Miss Suspension Bridge and Miss Public Dock! . . .

An A.A.A. official reports that Moscow requires that auto owners wash their cars daily. . . . "What are you in Siberia for?" . . . "My hose didn't work." . . .

An IBM brain machine was defeated by a human being in a checkers match. . . . We hear the machine claimed a foul, protesting that its opponent chewed tobacco during the match. . . . Noel Coward's new play "Nude With Violin" opens in America soon. . . . It should draw big audiences, since lots of people these days don't see a violin on the stage very often. . . . Barbara Hall, a sensation on $64,000 Question, taking Shakespeare as her category, is a Follies chorus girl. . . . This can lead to a situation where a producer choosing a musical show-chorus line will drop the command, "Let me see your legs," and switch to "Show me your literary qualifications." . . .

Tad Jones, who died a few days back, was one of Yale's football immortalists, quarter-backing great Eli to teams which had such men as Shevlin, Ted Coy, "Ham" Anders, Philbin, Bonar, Veeder, Biglow, Flinders, Brides and Alcott. . . . He was one of the greats in 1905, 1906 and 1907 when the Big Three dominated the grid scene and when it was so rough that a national outburst against injuries resulted in the earliest use of the forward pass. . . . Tad Jones never played on a losing team at Yale, and while he was a kid out of Excelsior, Ohio, he was never able to get the Elm City out of his system and later returned as head coach. . . .

Robert S. Allen Reports...

Knowland Stands Firm

Washington, June 28—Senate Republican Leader Knowland is appraising close friends of two "irrevocable decisions" he has made: "Under no circumstances" will he reverse his announced intention to retire from the Senate. He is under strong White House and other pressure to seek another term next year, but is turning a deaf ear to all pleas.

Exactly what his future plans are will be disclosed around August 1, whether Congress has or hasn't adjourned by then. It has been assumed the Californian would withhold this widely-awaited announcement until after Congress quits. He will speak out regardless of this factor.

On the key factor of whether he will or won't run for governor, Knowland is still maintaining tight-lipped silence. Asked if that means he hasn't yet made up his mind, Knowland smilingly countered with a question of his own, "What do you think?"

Similarly he declined to talk about two related reports: That he will be president of the University of California; he is taking over active management of his family's extensive property and other interests, foremost among them the Oakland Tribune.

Strenuous undercover efforts are being made in both Washington and California to induce Knowland to stay out of the gubernatorial race. The outcome of these hectic gyrations is conjectural.

Graphically indicative of these significant activities are the following:

A long conference between Knowland and Vice President Nixon, in the latter's office, the day Governor Goodwin Knight arrived in Williamsburg, Va., for the annual governor's parley.

A 45-minute talk between Nixon and Knight—who one year ago were openly cold toward one another. While Knight was warmly for the President's re-election, the Governor made no secret of his antipathy to Nixon; on several occasions snubbed him by refusing to campaign from the same platform with him. Now they are on cordial terms.

Meetings in San Francisco and Los Angeles of leading businessmen, bankers and others to discuss "the dangers" of the GOP of a bitter primary fight over the governorship. . . . Reputed consensus of these sessions was this must be avoided, and Knowland should run for the Senate again.

While in Washington Thursday, Knight repeated to national Republican leaders what he has been consistently saying—that he is not interested in the Senate and is determined to seek a second term as governor.

"That's final," Knight declared, "regardless of what Knowland or anyone else does." . . .

It can also be positively reported that Knight was not offered a government appointment. The President said nothing about that during their brief chat at the White House luncheon for Republican Governors, and neither did anyone else.

Note: Democratic insiders are saying their 1958 California ticket will be Attorney General Pat Brown for governor, and Rep. Clair Engle for the Senate.

Flashes—The Navy, already hit by that Asiatic flu, is asking the Senate Appropriations Committee for a special $1,500,000 grant to buy new fly-developed vaccine. The Armed Forces Epidemiological Board has recommended that all military personnel be vaccinated against this flu as soon as possible, and the Navy is losing no time in moving to do that. . . . The Senate's approval of the bill authorizing a $3,600,000,000 foreign aid budget was a distinct victory for the Administration, but it still remains to be seen how much of one it will be in the end. Yet to be considered is the actual money bill. On that Senator Dennis Chavez (D., N. M.), chairman of the Appropriations Subcommittee which will handle the measure, sounded a note of warning—right after he voted for the authorization bill. Said Chavez: "I would remind all concerned that this appropriation must still be made, before this operation can 'click.' So far as the Appropriations Committee is concerned, I cannot say what is likely to happen there."

Memoirs of a Girl Friday

Dear Mr. W.: Dorothy Bidle of the fabulous Philly clan) and Jackie Clark, the comic, started scads of tch - tchat when they made their entrance at the Embers. Some of his intimates say this could be "a very serious thing" . . . Marilyn Monroe's the one they want to play "The Jean Harlow Story." Perfect casting. Adela Rogers

St. John did the script. Edna Ferber is unhappy about the "Giant" movie royalties. Feels the Warner checks should be fatter than they are. . . . Peggy King and George

De Witt hugged and kissed out loud at Billy Reed's Little Club. Told everyone they'll marry when she opens at the Cops in the Fall. I wonder

. . . The new book, "Love Me Little," is supposedly auth'd by Amanda Vail, but no one at McGraw-Hill knows her. Some will even wager the photo on the back cover is not the author. Crase, a new teenage mag, will expose the hoax and allege the author is a male named Warren Miller.

Al Hibbler's biggest song hit, of course, is "After the Lights Go Down Low." LeRoy Lovett wrote it. He may lose every cent of the royalties. His wife is trying to attach the coin because he allegedly left her for another. . . . Jackie Gleason's director (F. Saterstein) is not quitting tv as reported. He signed to do the Pat Boone program. . . . Newspaper and magazine publishers will welcome the news that MGM will spend One Million $ exploiting "Raintree County." Hoping for a bigger press than "Gone With The Wind" . . . Variety's Frank Scully has titled his history of burlesque: "Leg Show" . . . Several midtown restaurant phones are tapped. For clues to who shot Costello.

Never heard so much comment on any news photo as the one showing Todd and Liz spitting. Such looks! Someone should remind Mike and his wife of the classic admonition for married folks: "Don't both get mad at the same time!" . . . Jack Webb's movie, "D.L.," can hardly expect to help enlistments in the Marines. Pretty grim stuff. And why does almost everyone in the cast yell like that all the time? My aching ears! . . . Also tell me this. Why does Hollywood send us so many pictures featuring mental cases? Since when is insanity entertainment? . . . One "Affair to Remember," however, offsets all the other misfits, so excuse my groans.

"Leslie's Love Song" is a best-seller album. You recently kidded the chap who wrote the tongue-in-cheek lyrics. He is pianist Lou Carter, who toured with Jimmy Dorsey, Glen Gray and Bobby Byrnes. When the band bit went sour Carter bought his own cab. The huckle jargon amused him so much he put it into songs. They are now the pets of disc-jockeys. Mr. Carter also signed to appear on Comco's program (six shots) at $1,500 per. . . . Ben Hecht, who pans New York in his new book "Charlie," must have had a sudden change of heart. He expressed his devotion to Our Town in an interview only the other day. . . . I saw Hope Hampton at Goldie's the other humid night covered in white fox fur. In this heat???

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

When William Faulkner visited Japan on behalf of the State department, he spoke to a convocation of several thousand students. Few understood what he was saying, but all were deeply remitted the interpreter. "I simply said 'Mr. Faulkner has just told a very funny story. Everybody will kindly laugh.'"

It begins to look, opines Col. Francis Duffy, as though they've transformed the Ship of State into a Revenue Cutter. He also discovered one place where a wife is eager to do her husband's bidding: a bridge table.

"How could you tell my story in so few words?" asked Faulkner.

"I didn't tell it at all," admitted the interpreter.

World Outlook

U.S. Troop Withdrawal Right Step

By William L. Smyser

The agreement between the President and the Prime Minister of Japan which is spelled out in detail in the instead of hidden by a partial smoke-cloud of generalities is the fixed promise to take our ground forces out of Japan.

Why, with the presence of gay young bucks, healthy young soldiers, making free of our supplies and occasionally casting eyes—successfully—at a girl whom some local prospector thought he had staked out.

It is this taking over, quite legitimately, of something the home people thought their own, which caused the trouble in America prior to 1975, and which causes trouble today, all round the world, where American boys are stationed. In the 13 Original Colonies the issue of the ground troops placed here to protect the Colonists themselves led to a long war when the upkeep of the soldiers was debated.

Paying taxes to put up ground troops who were not too popular anyhow led to a pamphlet war, a Boston Massacre, and storing of illicit arms and ammunition in Concord for Minute Men who were not authorized and who defied the King—and thence to war.

One might think that troops not only of a friendly nation, but from the mother country herself, would enjoy a good season of hospitality and understanding.

The British troops in America before our Revolution were never troops of occupation, occupying a conquered land. On the contrary, they had come to our aid during a war against the French and Indians, and they had won the war for us. Their officers were wine and dined, invited to the best houses, and, needless to say, married our best young ladies.

To some young Americans this may have seemed less like a good return for hospitality than a provocation. But the real provocation was just in the presence of gay young bucks, healthy young soldiers, making free of our supplies and occasionally casting eyes—successfully—at a girl whom some local prospector thought he had staked out.

It is this taking over, quite legitimately, of something the home people thought their own, which caused the trouble in America prior to 1975, and which causes trouble today, all round the world, where American boys are stationed. In the 13 Original Colonies the issue of the ground troops placed here to protect the Colonists themselves led to a long war when the upkeep of the soldiers was debated.

Paying taxes to put up ground troops who were not too popular anyhow led to a pamphlet war, a Boston Massacre, and storing of illicit arms and ammunition in Concord for Minute Men who were not authorized and who defied the King—and thence to war.

Without laboring the point, there are many parallels today between our own troops for protecting strategic spots throughout the free world and the troops of George the Third prior to the Battles of Lexington and Concord.

We are not taking the route King George pursued, because we are pulling our troops out before a shooting war against them starts. We are paying them ourselves, too, and not imposing taxes on the host peoples.

But our hosts are feeling our presence nonetheless. We are just a little like the fabled Man Who Came to Dinner, and we have to be very careful lest our somewhat domineering manner, our implicit assumption of our own superiority, and the years that have rolled by since we announced our arrival and came to plop ourselves down, bag and baggage, do not take a toll of good will and make us the most unpopular protectors in history.

We have a way of getting bored and cutting up just to relieve the boredom in a boisterous playful dangerous manner which may result in the death of a few local people before we are through. We like to fight, to join in a good polite rumput, and to rough up the joint. So do almost all healthy young soldiers, but it's better to have them do all this at home. The decision to give them that opportunity is wise and timely.

It Hurts To Injure Children

by Jim Riley

On Thursday of this week I had the misfortune of striking a boy with my automobile on Stroudsburg's West Main St.

The lad was Paul Ford Stroudsburg, RD, but he could have been your child or mine.

The feeling of a driver who has struck a child can't be explained. It defies any word in the English language. The feeling is a combination of fear, anxiety, pity, hope, sorrow and hopelessness.

Anyone who has had the misfortune of hitting any pedestrian with an automobile knows exactly what I mean.

I was driving at a low rate of speed when Paul, his brother, and a friend darted across W. Main St. immediately in back of a big truck. I tried to miss all three, but succeeded in only evading two. The result is something I'll never forget.

I lived a lifetime while bringing my car to a halt within the space of a few feet and during those seconds the word "SAFETY" took on a new meaning for me.

Kids, be careful. Sure, it's Summer and you all want to have a good time. You want to run and jump, play ball, swim, ride your bicycle, take hikes and do a number of things. But, in doing these things please be careful.

A quick move, an unthought plan or a race across a highway could be fatal. It's impossible for a motorist to stop his car in the same amount of time that a youngster makes a quick turn, jump or dart in one of several directions.

Boys and girls be careful. Nobody wants to hurt you, but sometimes it's unavoidable. Accidents are heartbreaking to your parents, to your sisters and brothers, grandparents and to the party or parties who own the equipment by which you were injured or the property on which you were hurt.

Information Made Public For Drill By Civil Defense

JUDGE Fred W. Davis released information yesterday concerning the state-wide Civil Defense drill to be held Friday, July 12.

The test will run from early morning until midnight for all civil defense workers. "Alert" and "Take Cover" signals will be sounded during the day at an unannounced time.

Upon the public sounding of the "Take Cover" signal, Stroudsburg civil defense and police officers will halt all highway traffic and direct people on sidewalks to seek refuge indoors.

The exact time of the public participation air raid drill will be decided by the Official State Council of Civil Defense. The drill will take place during daylight hours, but the hour will not be announced in advance.

Judge Davis indicated that the new state warning system will be used for the test. Yellow, blue, red, and white warning signals will be transmitted to all county and local civil defense centers over the civil defense bell-and-lights system.

Following the yellow signal flash, all control centers in Monroe County will publicly sound the "Alert" or "Attention" signal.

This "Alert" signal is a long, steady, non-fluctuating siren, horn, or whistle blast lasting from three to five minutes.

After the sounding of the "Alert" signal the following public emergency message will be broadcast over radio and public address systems:

"Attention, everyone! A simulated air raid warning has been received. This warning marks the start of today's civil defense test. For test purposes hostile aircraft are now assumed to be not more than two hours distant from Stroudsburg."

Citizens are expected to listen for the emergency message, but no other public action will be required after this signal.

Condition blue signal over the civil defense bell-and-lights system is a new feature of this test. It will indicate to civil defense workers that one hour remains before probable "zero hour" and will not be made public.

Immediately following the red signal in civil defense control centers, the public "Take Cover" signal will be sounded. This signal is a three-minute long, pulsating or warbling siren tone, or a three-minute long series of short blasts on horns or whistles.

After the sounding of the "Take Cover" signal, all citizens will be expected to take cover in buildings. Civil Defense and police officers will stop all road traffic and direct pedestrians to take shelter. Only trains, aircraft, and emergency vehicles may continue regular operation.

A few minutes after the "Take Cover" signal, a white light will be flashed in civil defense control centers. At this time a second "Alert" or "Attention" signal will be publicly sounded.

This second "Alert" signal will serve as the "All-Clear" signal and will be accompanied by the following radio or public address broadcast:

"Attention, everyone! A simulated civil defense 'All Clear' has been received. The air is now assumed to be clear of hostile aircraft. Traffic may now resume movement and all people their normal pursuits. This 'All-Clear' marks the end of today's public participation drill."

The civil defense control center communications drill will continue until midnight.

Soldier From Moscow Fined

WEST WARWICK, R.I., June 28 (AP)—George E. Vadovsky, 19, of Moscow, Pa., today was fined $10 in District Court when he was found guilty of disorderly conduct.

Coventry police charged he attempted to kiss a 24-year-old woman on Main Street June 9.

Judge James W. Leighton declared Vadovsky had "no right to accost strange women." He said four days' imprisonment awaiting trial and the fact he is a soldier stationed at the Coventry Nike site impelled him to reduce the charge from the more serious one of being a disorderly person brought by police.

Women Play Key Roles In Plays

UNWILLING women faced with the prospects of impending marriage will be the key characters in two Summer theater productions next week.

At Pocono Playhouse, Mountainhome, famous Broadway star Dennis King will be leading man in "The Reluctant Debutante," a story of a young society miss whose mother wants to marry her to a "good catch." Starred with King will be Renee Gadd and Roni Denigle.

Second Play The second play of the season at Bushkill Playhouse will be "Bus Stop," William Inge's comedy about a "chanteuse" (torch singer) who is reluctantly the object of the affections of an impulsive cowpoke. Starred in the Bushkill production will be Steve Romaine and Suzanne Fernier.

"Reluctant Debutante" opens Monday night at the Pocono Playhouse. "Bus Stop" will begin its run on Tuesday night at Bushkill.

High Winds Hit Leighton

The Leighton windstorm appears to have first begun to spread in a large-scale way, and midnight The Record received more than 100 calls from persons seeking information.

Late newscasts over television stations from outside the area further spread the news. In most cases pertaining to the Leighton storm, the news commentators gave exaggerated reports.

One newscaster on a Philadelphia station told his audience that a "tornado hit Leighton tonight and headed toward Stroudsburg." In the light of factual reports from the Leighton State police and others in that area, the report on TV was something less than good reporting.

State police at the Leighton sub-station said that the damage done at Normal Square, six miles west of that borough, was confined entirely to tree limbs and utility wires.

One State trooper scoffed at the report that the wind could be considered a "tornado." He said that the storm was "nothing more than a big wind," that it "hit only in a valley" and caused no damage to homes and no injuries to either humans or animals.

22 Monroe County People Plan 10-Day Camping Trip Through New York State

TWENTY-TWO people — 16 youngsters and six adults — will leave Monroe County bright and early Monday morning for a 10-day camping trip which will take them throughout New York State, as far as the Canadian border, and back again.

The youngsters range in age from 10 to 14 and were selected for the trip on the basis of their attendance at the Middle Smithfield and Shawnee Presbyterian churches, as well as in Sunday School and at the Westminster Fellowship meetings.

Rough It

"We're really going to rough it," said Mrs. Wendell Wicks, one of the chaperones. "We're not going to bring along cooking stoves. Instead we'll build fires for cooking purposes."

Each night, the youngsters and their adult leaders will select a campsite, erect their tents, and roll out the old sleeping bags. After a vesper service and a campfire program, they'll hit the sack.

Leaving the Poconos by bus, the campers will head for Cooperstown, NY, where they'll visit the Baseball Hall of Fame and the Farmer Museum.

On the second day, they'll visit Howe Caverns and head for Fort Ticonderoga. That night, they'll camp near Albany.

After visiting the Ausable Chasm on the third day, the group will travel across the Fulton chain of Lakes through the Adirondacks. Later, they plan to visit the Thousand Islands.

Power Failure Unexplained

A SERIES of power failure on Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. lines in the W. Mabe St. area were still unexplained at 11 last night.

Although workmen had been checking in the area for two hours, the exact cause of light failures was still undetermined, a P&L spokesman said.

An official of the company said however that the power interruption was not believed due to winds. Relatively mild winds occurred in the area during the time of the power failures.

CHIPS ARE DOWN

LUMBERJACKS throughout North America are working harder than ever to whip themselves into shape for their World Series at Albany, Ore. Brawny loggers of the United States, Canada and Alaska will match stroke for stroke with axes and cross-saws in log chopping, top trees, throw axes and engage in other rugged activities. One of the most dangerous events is tree-logging, when toppers cut the crown from tall timber while swaying 90 feet above the ground. Axe swingers hack through 14-inch alder logs in 30 to 40 seconds. There's also a jousting contest in which raftmen knock challengers from floating timbers with long poles. Loggers get prize money, dance, parade, and crown a beauty queen.

Biting is the name for this contest. The biter on the right is plenty upset.

He's chopping away on a 14-inch alder log. He'll be through in about 30 seconds.

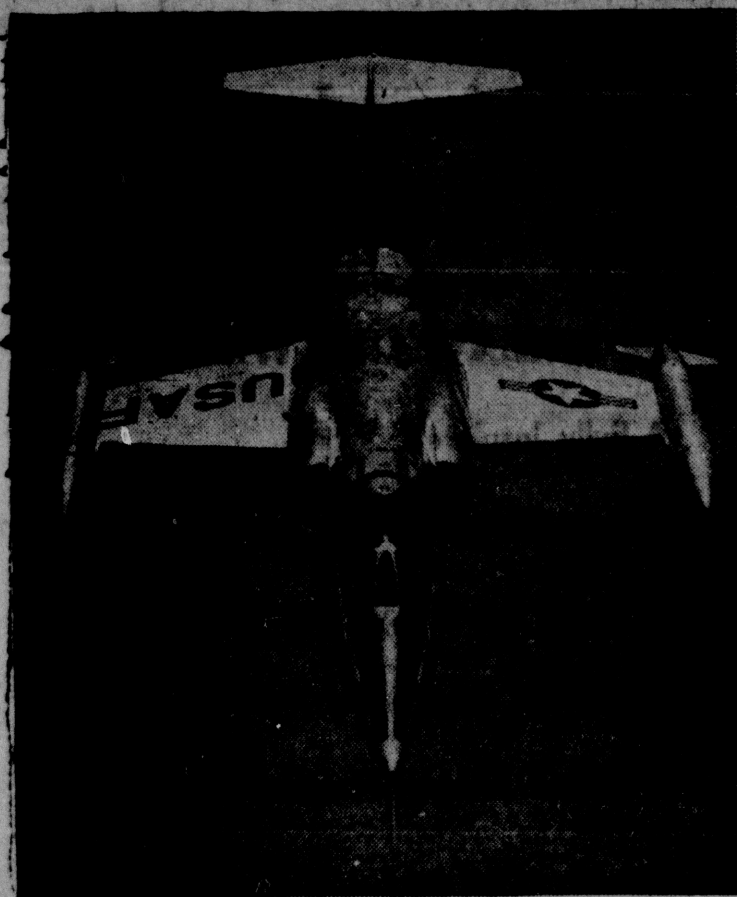

These buckers make the sawdust fly. They'll take less than two minutes for job.

bin and his Society Six will be giving out with the dance music tonight at the East Stroudsburg club. Then on Wednesday night (day before the Fourth) Tommy Donlin and his orchestra will be on the C.L.U. bandstand. Dancing will be from 10 P.M. to 2:00 A.M.

Seven Temples Found

SRINAGAR, Kashmir, June 28 (AP)—A buried city believed to have flourished in the 12th and 13th centuries is being dug out of jungle and rubble 47 miles east of Jammu. Digging is directed by Kashmiri archeologist T. N. Khazanchi on the 15-square-mile site of Babor, a long-lost metropolis of medieval India. Seven temples have been found so far.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Friendship and services are two of the key words in the Soroptimists' code, and both were amply demonstrated on Thursday night when a big delegation came up through the wind, rain and lightning from Doylestown to conduct the installation of local officers at the dinner in Barrett.

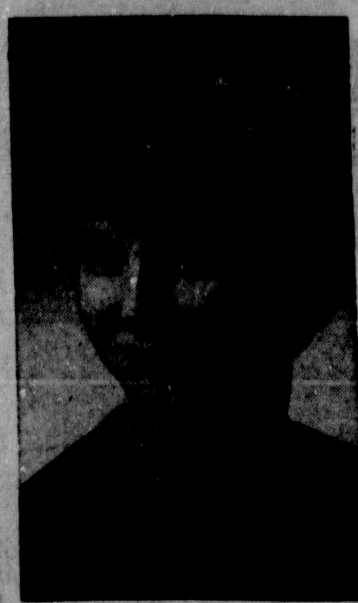

Judging from the fun they were having, the trip was well worthwhile, however. And the local Soroptimist had certainly earned their night out since working at a rummage sale this weather must be anything but comfortable.

Trying to see around a corner isn't comfortable either, but that's what most people were doing with Phoebe Conrad's shadow box recreation of the dining room of the Woodside in its earliest days. The dining room was in full view, but most people were craning their necks trying to see around the corner where a section of the kitchen could be glimpsed.

Helen Henry is certainly going in for antiques in a big way and is currently having a big time trying to find a portrait of General Sullivan for a pin-up boy. Come to think of it I don't ever remember seeing a picture of the General, not even in all the programs on the Sullivan trail.

Well, I've got some pictures of some mighty pretty brides who'll be getting married this last weekend in June. Incidentally, the wedding procession from the Baptist Church to the YMCA early this afternoon ought to be worth watching. The whole wedding party will be conveyed in antique autos, and it needs six of them to do it.

Just so long as the bridegroom doesn't have to get out and crank the car in the middle of Main Street, it ought to be quite a trip.

GOP Candidates Stress Registration, Records At Pocono Council Party Picnic

Mt. Pocono—Highlighted by a speech by Judge Fred W. Davis, who heads the court of Common Pleas for Monroe and Pike Counties, the Pocono Mountains Council of Republican Women met at a picnic this past week on the grounds of Mrs. Ellison Halstead in Paradise Valley, near Mt. Pocono. A "get out the registration" theme was a subject pounded home by key Republican candidates in Monroe County who were on hand for the outing which was under the direction of Mrs. Eloise Bryan, council president.

The most important thing that the Pocono Republican Women could do, according to Judge Davis, was to see that all of the eligible voters in their area were registered before the Fall deadline. "Pay no attention to political speeches," Judge Davis said. "Study closely the record each candidate has made, whether in or out of office and then exercise the great American privilege of registering your complaint or approval of his actions when you are alone with your conscience in your private booth out election day," he said.

"Vote, no matter how you vote, vote," was his admonition to a record crowd of the Pocono Women's Council. "We have nothing to fear, if voters study the record," the Judge stated. He was not asking for a purely party victory, as such. "Let those who have served honorably, regardless of party, be reelected," he said. "Let those who have not, fall by the wayside."

Ben Williams, Republican county chairman, also asked that the Women's Council study the backgrounds of the candidates. "Does their experience qualify them for holding office?" he asked. On this note he introduced Donald Dimmick, an official of the East Stroudsburg National Bank and candidate for Monroe County Treasurer. Mr. Dimmick thanked the Pocono Council for their support, and asked that "the voters send to the office a person well qualified in financial management."

Supporting Mr. Dimmick's qualifications for office were Robert Shaw, candidate for the office of the auditor of the Borough of Stroudsburg, who served in the Marine Corps in World War II with Mr. Dimmick. The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. J. Russell Gustard, East Stroudsburg RD 1, who introduced other local Republican candidates. "We have seen the prosperous results of Republican leadership in the White House for the last five years," she stated, "and now it is time to bring more of this kind of leadership to our county level."

She said that Republican leadership in Harrisburg had avoided a state income tax by overriding Governor Leader's recommendations. Pennsylvania, she said, was but one of few Eastern states that still held off from taxing the little man, the small property owner, and others who are already overburdened with "hidden taxes."

Other candidates in the forthcoming election, she introduced were: Mrs. Katherine J. Carpenter, candidate for auditor of Pocono Township; Mrs. Jean B. Beadle, school director, Pocono Township; and Mrs. Ethel S. Wakefield, judge of elections, Paradise Township. Those in attendance gave a standing ovation to Eloise Bryan, Swiftwater, for her contributions as president of the Pocono Women's Council. Kudos were also given to Mrs. Henry Cruse and Mrs. Ellison Halstead, who were co-chairmen of the outing.

As a demonstrator for the Spice Islands Company, Lorraine Wiese has come into contact with the delectable cuisine of America's Southland . . . the cosmopolitan dishes of New York . . . the superb food of San Francisco, which she considers absolutely unobtainable . . . and has observed that Pennsylvanians prefer their cooking plain, simple, and substantial. She doesn't say so, but I am sure Mrs. Wiese feels that, left to our own devices, we Pennsylvanians housewives would settle for a pinch of salt and a dash of pepper, and be content. She knows, for instance, after visiting Gimblets, Strawbridge and Clothier, and other big Philadelphia stores, that housekeepers in this area do not buy spices on impulse. They must taste . . . be convinced . . . and THEN they go deliberately overboard, finding an entirely new field of tasty witchcraft with which they can work magic every day of their home-making lives.

Women, of course, are not the only customers who invest in spices. Men love them . . . and when she visited Gimblets, Lord & Taylor, and Bloomingdale's in New York, she found that some of her finest customers were men who, after sampling a few of the tidbits she had prepared, thought nothing of buying the entire line. One doctor from Atlanta, Georgia, invested 20.00 in varied Spice Islands seasoning, and was so delighted with his purchase he later wrote her, inviting her to visit his wife and himself and sample some of his concoctions.

Lorraine Wiese hails from California, which is also the home of the Spice Islands Company. She is such an attractive person, I had imagined she might have been born elsewhere and drifted to the West Coast in search of an acting career. I was wrong. She is a native Californian, and was married for a number of years to a gentleman who was an executive of the Reynolds Tobacco Company. The circles in which she traveled were the glamorous circles of society and motion pictures. At the exclusive Lakeside Club she rubbed elbows with such important public properties as Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Roy and Dede Evans Rogers, Mickey Rooney and the like. Claudette Colbert, Myrna Loy, Marilyn Maxwell and other glittery names of the "silver screen" were practically neighbors . . . and when she had a very special foods business in the widely famed Farmers' Market, she was able to make many first hand observations as to the charm and beauty of film favorites. Jeanne Crain stands out in her mind as one of the loveliest looking. She can name several who were pretty disappointing, too, but we'll skip that! As for the men—ah, that Walter Pidgeon charm is absolutely devastating, despite the passing years!

A woman of many interests, Mrs. Wiese collects antiques, and her home in Burlingame, Calif., is filled with glorious marble top tables, and other prized pieces, including her rare plaques of Jasper (gray-green) Wedgewood. She searches for additional Wedgewood everywhere her travels take her, but it's difficult to come by in this particular shade. She also paints in oils, whenever the opportunity presents. Her favorite subjects are people . . . and one painting which she particularly cherishes is of Huey the clown. Her two sons tell her they'll never quarrel over her marble top tables . . . but each is willing to wage a real battle for Huey.

Lovely as any portrait she's likely to paint, Lorraine Wiese is a charming, well-informed cosmopolitan, who says her most glamorous customer to date has been Marlene Dietrich. We doubt very much if Marlene was any more interesting to look at than the Spice Islands demonstrator herself—a clear-skinned, bright-eyed brunette with interesting touches of gray at the temple. I'll excuse our slang, she's as tasty a dish as the dishes she prepares with Spice Islands seasoning. Do meet her during her two week stay with us!

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Describe to Lorraine Wiese the foods you like and your method of preparing them, and she will probably tell you from what section of the country you have come. Hers is a knowledge that comes naturally to any woman, herself a gourmet, who travels as constantly as she does, representing a company that is concerned solely with good tastes.

County Fails To Up Assessments

By Leonard Randolph
MONROE County districts failed diametrically to either raise their assessments or keep pace with market value increases this past year.

This is according to the annual report of the State Tax Equalization Board in Harrisburg.

The STEB issued a report yesterday which showed that Monroe County's total market value in 1956 was $107,122,800. This is an increase of $2,787,500 over the $104,345,300 total for 1955.

At the same time the report shows that assessed values increased to $22,600,480, the total is only $418,690 higher than the $22,181,790 for the preceding year.

Percentage-wise the county lost ground in the face of rising market values. The ratio of assessed to market value in 1956 is only 21.1 percent. In 1955 it was 21.39 — a loss of 1.19 percent.

Nearly all of Monroe County's districts showed a drop in their assessed-to-market value ratio. A total of 12 districts showed decreases while two remained the same and the rest showed slight rises.

Tunkhannock and Mount

Pocono showed the most marked decreases in assessment ratios. But both of these districts had been considerably higher than other Monroe County areas.

Tunkhannock's decrease was a sharp 1.5 percent while Mount Pocono dropped 1.2 percent during the year. All other decreases were below one percent.

The following is a complete listing of STEB figures for Monroe districts effective with the end of the report year. Included also are comparative figures for the past report year. Abbreviations used are these: MV for market value; AV for assessed value; AMR for assessment-to-market value-ratio. Totals for 1955 are in parentheses.

Barrett: $14,428,000 ($14,249,100) MV; $2,470,320 ($2,425,860) AV; 17.1 percent (17 percent) AMR. Increases noted: $178,900 MV; $44,460 AV. The ratio increased one-tenth of one percent.

Chestnut Hill: $3,507,400 ($3,432,800) MV; $633,805 ($615,815) AV; 18.1 percent (17.9 percent) AMR. Increases of $74,600 MV and $17,990 AV with a two-tenths of one percent rise in ratio.

Newfoundland Residents Interested In Opening Of America Wonderland Exhibit

NEWFOUNDLAND — Of particular interest to residents of the Newfoundland area will be the opening tomorrow, of the new America Wonderland exhibit at 1:30 p.m. an hour which will see the culmination of a dream of Adam S. Hahn, a resident of Newfoundland for many years.

Reputed to be the only cinematic miniature of its kind in existence, America Wonderland is located near the Reading interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike on Route 222 midway between Lancaster and Reading. The wonderland covers American history from the early days of the Indians to the present time, with many phases of transportation, building, entertainment, dress, and scenery from all parts of the United States portrayed in working miniature.

Niagara and Yosemite Falls will begin cascading their waters into the Lancaster County display when Earle A.

Newton, Chief of Pennsylvania Historical Properties, throws the main switch at the exhibit. At the same time, 48 symbols representing the 48 states will also be unveiled at the tops of their staffs along the highway to inaugurate the opening.

Ingenious lighting and sound systems and the use of black light and fluorescent paints enable visitors to witness the cinerama through a complete day and night sequence from sunrise to sunrise. Hidden pumps turn real water into tumbling mountain streams and white-capped oceans.

Novel planning gives the visitor the feeling of standing on the summit of a mountain viewing the countryside around him. No matter where he looks, he sees America.

The exhibit is the result of 20 years of intensive work by Adam Hahn, who moved from Newfoundland to Denver RD a year ago. He figures that 25,000 hours have gone into America Wonderland. A mile and a half of wire has been incorporated into the lighting and sound effects, and 100 gallons of water will go over the miniature Yosemite and Niagara Falls every minute.

It was while he was in Newfoundland that Hahn discovered that he had a special talent for constructing miniature displays, when he turned to it for a hobby in 1930. His first display was on a much smaller scale than the present enterprise, but the same tiny people and mobile equipment were a part of the setup.

All of the little people who are a part of America through the years were made by Ray L. Smith, of LaAnns, a master craftsman with a wood lathe. The "bodies" were turned with the lathe, and the arms, legs, and clothing were then fashioned by Mr. Hahn.
